CHILDREN GIVE FINE PAGEANT

"AMERICA TRIUMPHANT" OUTSTANDING AT CHAUTAUQUA.

PRELUDE IS POPULAR

Grosjean Company Well Received by Audience—Home Town Movies End Week of Entertainment.

Children of Maryville presented a beautiful little pageant in "America Triumphant" at Chautauqua yesterday afternoon. Aided by several grown-ups in two scenes, the realistically portrayed colonial America in a series of songs, dances and pictures in costume.

The pageant was presented under the direction of Misses Fay K. Moore and Nora DeLehery of the Redpath-Vawter company and Mrs. D. A. Caldwell of Maryville, with about fifty children taking different parts.

The pageant opened with a pilgrim scene and passed through different epochs up to the making of the first American flag by Betsy Ross, and concluding with a liberty-pole dance participated in by all the children in the pageant.

Continental Congress scenes and the signing of the Declaration of Independence were enacted by older persons. Dr. C. C. James made quite a natural Payton Randolph and later Richard Henry Lee, the Rev. R. A. Mitchell was John Hancock in all his glory, and Walter Allen, Joseph and Ralph Graves, Paris Phipps, and Irving West were realistic as forefathers of the country.

The last named, as Patrick Henry, stirred the audience with his "Give me liberty or give me death.' Mr. West was one of the crew men with the chautauqua.

The prelude yesterday by the Grosjean Company was one of the best of Chautauqua week. The players were versatile and entertaining. Last night they were scheduled to give only a short concert, but the five-reel film to be shown did not arrive in Maryville, and the Grosjeans entertained for an hour instead. This met with the approval of the audience.

The moving pictures taken in Maryville last Thursday concluded the program last night and the Chautahqua in Maryville for 1926.

An effort was made to secure the names of the children who participated in the pageant yesterday. No list was available, and it is possible that some may have been omitted from the following roster:

Camp Holatchaway Is Over With All O. K.

4-H Club Members Return Home Today After Outing in State Teachers College Park.

No one had the stomach ache, no one had to be disciplined, no one became homesick—and Camp Holatchaway broke up this morning after three hilarious days for 4-H club members from Holt, Atchison and Nodaway Counties.

Some of the youngsters went home last night, but the majority remained until this morning to have one more swim in the State Teachers College pool, and then to return home to live in expectation of next year's outing.

If invited back, Camp Holatchaway may again be in the College park next year. It was a most ideal spot according to all of the leaders.

The crowning event of the camp was last night when occupants of each of the twelve cabins in the park gave stunts in front of the campfire. There was everything from a banana eating contest to a cure-all for demented college students. And a number of visitors were present for the fun.

When the camp broke, the food was exhausted. Each meal the children became more ravenous, and had the camp lasted a few hours more there would have had to be a replenishment of the larder.

CHAUTAUQUA FOR 2 YEARS

CONTRACT, ALSO FOR 1928, SIGNED LAST NIGHT.

137 ARE GUARANTORS

Program This Year A Good One—No Check-Up Made On Finances, But A Profit Is Understood.

Maryville will have a Redpath-Vawter Chautauqua in 1928 as well as 1927. At the final program of this year's Chautauqua last night, it was voted to contract with the Cedar Rapids concern for two years instead of one. One hundred and thirty-seven persons signed the guarantee list to underwrite the Chautauqua, and the proposition of a two-year contract instead of a one-year agreement was carried after being put to a vote last night.

The advantages of the two-year proposition, according to John G. Mutz, a member of the local committee, are that Maryville can suffer no hike in guarantee for 1928 and will benefit in case of a price reduction. Mr. Mutz said that in many cases the guarantee is raised from year to year, and should it be so in 1928, Maryville would get the program for the 1927 price.

The contract for the next two years calls for a guarantee of $1,685 for twelve full programs. This is $100 less than the guarantee this year, but the Chautauqua will be six instead of seven days.

No check has been made on the financial outcome of this year's Chautauqua. Indications are that the local committee will receive a profit on the week of entertainment. This will furnish a nest egg for next year's guarantee.

The Chautauqua program this year was good, and many persons have been heard to remark that it was far above the average. There were no weak numbers and there were a number of exceptionally strong ones.

Aside from names already published, the following signed the guarantee list:

Mrs. H. G. Hetzel, Mrs. M. E. Bell, Raymond Jones, Thomas S. Young, Miss Ada L. Needles, Mrs. Emma DeMoss, Laurence Wray, B. D. Null, Mrs. B. D. Null, W. O. Griffey, C. W. Butler, Walter Cochran.

Edgar Carlson, Mrs. R. C. Person, Miss Neva Sage, Mrs. P. J. Jantze, John Price, jr., Dr. E. C. Braniger, R. C. Seal, Mrs. R. C. Seal, Charles T. Bell, T. A. Parish, W. A. Miller, Mrs. A. T. Estes, Mrs. Glen Evans, Mrs. E. L. Hamlin, E. R. Miller.

George C. Butts, John T. Griffey, E. C. Moore, J. W. Harper, Louis Lehmer, D. Simmons, Mrs. D. Simmons, Mayme Taylor, Mrs. W. P. Howland, Mrs. Theodore Gray, H. A. Fisher, E. O. Goodspeed, J. A. Clark, Mrs. J. B. Trullinger, Walter S. Davis, Theo C. Gray, I. J. Phipps, George C. Eoff.

Mrs. Keene to Siloam Springs.

Mrs. Virgil Keene received a message this morning stating that her aunt, Mrs. Sallie Steers of that place, was very low. Mrs. Keene left this morning for Siloam Springs.

BEN H. YOUNG DIES IN FALL

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE BY HANGING —ROPE BREAKS.

A FORMER RESIDENT

Was Son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Young of Bedison.—Served in War.—Body Coming Here.

Chicago, Ill., Aug 12.—Benjamin H. Young, aged 37, from Maryville, committed suicide jumping out of a window.

Mr. Young died at the Cook County Hospital early today from injuries received in a fall at the New Union Depot Hotel when he attempted to hang himself. He had lived at this hotel for about six months, the clerks say. He tied one end of a rope about his neck and the other to a beam and jumped from the window of his room, which was on the third floor of the building. The rope broke and he was plunged to his death. His skull was crushed.

The above dispatch was received today at noon by The Democrat-Forum from the Yards News Bureau of Chicago about Benjamin H. Young, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Young of Bedison. Mr. Young has been in Chicago about a week as a letter was received from him several days from Quincy, Ill., stating he was going to Chicago.

Mr. Young was in the world war, being in the navy. He made twelve trips across the ocean during the war. On his return home, he appeared to be suffering from a nervous shock, and here recently his family thought he was much better. He has been away from home about two years, having located at Quincy, where he took a commercial course. St. Joseph, Kansas City and other places during that time.

He is also survived in addition to his parents by two sisters and three brothers. They are: Mrs. Earl McCutcheon and Mrs. Erb Mozingo, and Thomas Young and Otho Young of Bedison, and Isaac Young of Maryville. He was born near Bedison where his parents are now living.

Mr. and Mrs. Young were notified of the death of their son by a Chicago undertaker. Instructions were wired for the body to be shipped to Maryville and it is expected to arrive here in the morning.

Barney Dougan, city marshal, received a telegram from Morgan A. Collins, superintendent of police, at Chicago about 10:30 o'clock this morning as follows:

"Notify Mrs. Alice Young her son, Benjamin H. Young is at county hospital. His skull is fractured and he is in a serious condition."

Fewer Convicts at Mo. Prison August 1

Jefferson City, Mo., Aug. 12.—For the first time in many months the population of the penitentiary, which is the largest single penal institution in the United States, decreased during July.

The number of inmates decreased from 3,495 on June 30 to 3,458 on July 31, a loss of 37, according to records of the state prison board. The prisoners on August 1 were 3,458 or 3,393 men and 65 women.

During July 118 prisoners, including one woman, were discharged at the expiration of their sentences. One prisoner was released by habeas corpus writ, two died, three were paroled and four escaped.

During the month 87 prisoners were received, including one woman. Four escaped prisoners were returned to the prison during the month.

A total of 406 prisoners are now employed outside the prison walls on the farms and in road and mining camps. There are 98 prisoners at the road camp at Calwood, Callaway county, 67 on the two farms, 176 at two rock quarries in Boone county, and 65 at a coal mine at Lexington.

The women prisoners, now numbering 64, are kept on a farm east of the penitentiary.

Mrs. Clyde Dearing of Peru, Ind., is visiting her sister, Mrs. R. M. Barry, and family. The visitor came Tuesday to spend a week or ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Tobin and Mr. and Mrs. Heber Michaelson left last night on a trip to Los Angeles and other points in California.

It Is Not Hot But Don't Tell It to Marines

(Kansas City Post)

The excessive heat yesterday caused a member of the United States marine corps to cut short a forty-seven days' furlough and report back for duty.

Cecil C. Agee, just starting his fourth enlistment, was given a leave of absence to visit his mother, Mrs. Nora Agee, Guilford, Mo. After a few days in the sweltering heat he felt a longing for the ocean breezes of the Pacific coast, where he had completed an enlistment.

Agee reported yesterday to Capt. T. E. Kendrick, in charge of the marine recruiting service, and requested he be returned to Mare Island, marine base on the Pacific coast. Most of the formalities were waived and Agee began his fourth enlistment in record time.

The common stock dividend and cash dividend are payable to stockholders on record August 21.

The directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the 7 per cent preferred stock and $1.50 a share on the 6 per cent preferred.

President Sloan declined to make special comment on the dividend policy of the directors but expressed himself as potimistic over the future outlook.

New York, Aug. 12.—Directors of the Union Pacific Railroad today declared a regular quarterly dividend of $2.50 on the common stock and a semi-annual and a semi-annual dividend of $2 on preferred stock, both payable October 1 to owners of record September 1.

Following the declaration, President Carl R. Gray stated that stable business conditions existing throughout the West, which, with fair prices for farm products, will enable that section of the country to take another step in its economic comeback.

The money will be apportioned by counties. Single memberships will be $12.50. A given sum will be set aside for a secretary of experience and all the counties will be kept in close contact through the secretary.

The publicity campaign will cover magazine and newspaper advertising and the publication of descriptive literature.

LETTER MAY HURT FRANCE

MORE CONGRESSIONAL OPPOSITION IS FORECAST.

CLEMENCEAU SCORED

London Papers Discussing Matter at Length—One Organ Feels Sorry for Senator Borah.

Washington, Aug. 12.—The now famous open letter sent by Georges Clemenceau, former premier of France, to President Coolidge may prove a diplomatic boomerang to his nation by paving the way to rejection of the French debt settlement by the American Congress, it was indicated here today.

Congressional opposition to the French pact, strong at all times, has seized upon Clemenceau's attitude as indicating officially France's ingratitude for the assistance rendered that nation by the United States after the war and while France was bleeding white as a result of her losses to Germany.

The aged former premier's note, alreayd condemned by Senator William E. Borah, Republican of Idaho, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, and by Senator Richard P. Ernst, Republican of Kentucky, a strong administrative spokesman, was denounced today by Senator Kenneth McKellar, Democrat of Tennessee, who led the minority's opposition to the other debt settlements.

McKellar declared Clemenceau's letter was a pathetic thing and peculiarly unfortunate for France.

London, Aug. 12.—The debt controversy appears to have been opened again by the Clemenceau letter and the reply of Senator William E. Borah.

The newspapers today discussed the matter at length, the Daily Chronicle, organ of Lloyd George's Liberals, declaring that Senator Borah's reply to Clemenceau is the parallel of the policy set forth by Lord Balfour in 1922 when as foreign secretary he suggested all-around cancellation of the war debts and the general scaling down of the reparations from Germany.

"It was the Washington government's insistence on repayment of the British debt to America that made the policy of Balfour impossible," said the Chronicle.

"We could almost find it in our hearts to be sorry for Senator Borah, who, with almost inconceivable repidity, has placed himself in conflict with Clemenceau, the undefeated and undefeatable," said the Morning Post.

Pledge Aid in Inquiry of Baking Combines

Senators Reed And Capper Will Back Investigation Into Alleged Gigantic Mergers Og Big Concerns.

Kansas City, Aug. 12.—The scare head of alleged gigantic baking mergers and the determined campaigns to sustain high prices for baking products throughout the country raised itself again this afternoon when Senator James A. Reed, Democrat of Missouri, and Senator Arthur Capper, Republican of Kansas, pledged themselves to push the investigation of charges through two channels—the Senate judiciary committee and the federal trade commission.

The announcement came as a result of agitation here for an investigation following charges by Senator Robert M. La Follette, Republican of Wisconsin, that the investigation into the activities of the Continental Baking Co. was dropped with no more than a passing gesture and the commission was making a "mere farce of the proceedings."

Senator Reed wired Washington this afternoon to ascertain whether or not a sub-committee of the Senate judiciary committee of which he is a member had been appointed to carry out the investigation. In case the subcommittee has not yet been appointed, the inquiry into the alleged combine and its prices will get under way soon, Senator Reed stated.

Senator Capper said he would do everything within his power to see that the federal trade commission pressed the investigation into the combine and that the result of the inquiry be brought to light as soon as possible.

Earl and Roy Riggle and Miss Lucy Riggle left today for St. James, Minn., where they will visit relatives for several days.

Leslie R. Kautz Named Harrison Prosecutor

Jefferson City, Aug. 12.—Governor Sam A. Baker today appointed Leslie R. Kautz of Bethany, prosecuting attorney of Harrison County to succeed Clifford Hix, who resigned. The appointment was recommended by the Harrison County Republican committee.

Hix resigned his office following the result of last Tuesday's primary in which he was defeated by a moderate size plurality by Kautz. In the first place, he said, he felt that in so doing he was acting with justice toward himself, toward the county, and toward Kautz, who it is conceded will win the office in a county preponderantly Republican. In the second place, he believes that as the county favored the candidacy of his Bethany opponent, its confidence in Kautz was shown and should be recognized.

Hix lost the race for renomination to Kautz by a vote of 1225 to 973, a plurality of 252.

FIVE MINERS FOUND ALIVE

HAD BEEN ENTOMBED IN SHAFT SINCE THURSDAY.

WITHSTOOD HARDSHIP

Rescue Effected When Crawling Men See Light of Seachers.—One Is Slightly Injured.

Salem, Ky., Aug. 12.—Five miners who have been entombed in the Zinc and Spar Company's mine near here since last Thursday night when a slide-in blocked a level 150 feet beneath the surface of the main shaft, were found alive early today.

All of the men were in fairly good condition considering the many days they have gone without food. George Capillo, one of the five, however, was injured, having been struck on the back by a falling rock the second day after the slide occured. It was said, however, that his condition was not serious.

The rescue was effected when two of the men making their way through a level which had been chocked with mud, water and rock, saw the light of a lamp carried by one of the rescue workers and calling to him. The three then returned to where the other three men were imprisoned and all then made their way to the main shaft.

The rescue was made 153 hours after the men were trapped.

Friday, Aug. 13, May Be His Lucky Day

It Might Also Be Unlucky for Nebraska Youth Condemned to Die—Board to Decide Fate Then.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 12.—It's a far cry from the days of witches and their necessary romancy but Friday the thirteenth is still Friday the 13th, and to Donald Ringer its power as an omen, good or bad, may be revealed Friday.

Ringer has been convicted of the murder of Carl W. Moore, a Hastings automobile salesman, and this Friday, (13th) his fate will hang in balance. The state board of pardons will decide on that day to determine whether the 19-year-old shall die in the electric chair or spend the rest of his days in the penitentiary.

From his cell in the state prison the condemned youth today didn't know whether he was glad or sorry his fate was to be settled on Friday, the 13th.

"I've never been superstitious before," Ringer said, "and I don't want to say too much or I might find myself getting that way."

Already Ringer has experienced the freakish whims of fate. Four hours before he was to have been electrocuted July 9, he was granted a 30-day reprieve in order that he might have a final hearing.

Ringer was convicted of having beaten Moore to death with a hammer on a lonely road near Hastings, in October, 1924, in order to steal the automobile Moore was demonstrating.

FIVE PRIESTS ARE EXECTED

RIOTING IN CONNECTION WITH BEXICAN SITUATION.

A. F. L. KEEPING MUM

Many Killed.—Many Wounded.—Many Others Taken Prisoner as Church Fights State.

Mexico City, Aug. 12.—Five priests were executed by Mexican soldiers following rioting in the state of Michoacam in connection with the religious conflict between the Catholic church and the Mexican government, dispatches from there said today.

At least forty persons, including several priests, were killed a few days before in Zaguayo, according to the archbishop of Michoacum, now in Mexico City.

Bitter clashes between the Catholics and Protestants have occurred in the state of Guanajato, according to dispatches. The Catholics, vastly in the majority, burned down the houses of eighteen Protestant families and committed many outrages against the Protestant men and women, newspapers reported. Following reports of outrages against the French Catholics in the state of Puebla, the French embassy sent an attache there for the purpose of investigation.

The American embassy today confirmed reports of fighting in Guadalajara. The embassy stated that eighteen persons were killed and forty wounded and four hundred Catholics were taken prisoners in the fighting.

Washington, Aug. 12.—The American Federation of Labor, which is godfather to the organized labor movement in Mexico, will keep hands off the present Mexican religious troubles.

Much of Samuel Gompers' time in his last years was devoted to developing and building up the Mexican federation. He was an intimate friend of President Calles and members of his present cabinet. The same spirit of cooperation has been continued under the presidency of William Green, who succeeded Gompers.

The Mexican federation is strongly supporting Calles.

Twenty-two men and two women were arrested, 12,000 gallons of beer and whisky mash, sixty-seven gallons of whisky and alcohol and four stills and other equipment were seized and destroyed.

THE ONLY DAILY PAPER IN NODAWAY COUNTY

LET'S GO TO THE FAIR

(By Walter B. Remley, Agricultural Agent, C. B. and Q. R. R., St. Louis, Mo).

If you are a farmer, business man, preacher, teacher, doctor, dentist, or what not, you can't afford to miss the Missouri State Fair at Sedalia from August 14 to 21.

Replete with every possible kind of exhibit and plentifully supplied wtih amusements of all sorts, there is something for everybody. What does it merit a man to keep at his work all the time—never taking a day or two off to get out to see and to learn and to mingle with his fellow citizens from other parts of the state. A man who doesn't, usually gets in a rut and stays there. But when we do get out to see and to learn such as we can do at the State Fair, we return to our work refreshed, filled with new ideas and possessed of a keener appreciation of the better things of life and how to obtain them.

This is the 26th Annual State Fair. It has steadily grown bigger and better, until now we do not only have one of the best equipped State Fair Grounds in the country, but also one of the best State Fairs. As Missourians, we should all be proud of it. Then we should realize more that it is ours—that it belongs to us and that it is just as much of an educational institution as the University of Missouri. We can't all go to the University, but we can all go to the State Fair.

Entries in all departments this year are as great or greater than ever before. More counties are entered in the County Exhibit and Greater Attendance Contests than ever before. There will be a great hog show. The new dairy barn will be used for the first time this year. All admirers of dogs will find a real treat in the Kennel Show. The free attractions will be the best ever held. And everybody likes the races—there will be good ones and you'll want to see them.

There will be an educational exhibit of Vocational Agriculture for the first time. And there will be a young army of club boys and girls there. All of the newest in farm machinery will be on display.

Every effort has been made to provide accomodations for Fair Visitors who may care to spend one or more nights at Sedalia. They may be had on application to the Management at the Fair.

If you have attended the Fair before plan to return and take some friends with you. If you haven't gone before, be sure to go this time. Remember the dates—August 14 to 21. The greater the attendance, the more good the Fair will do the State. It's our Fair, so let's go.

CORN CROP IS 85 PER CENT

ESTIMATE WHEAT PRODUCTION AT 279,720 BUSHELS.

OATS 74 PER CENT

Nodaway County Crops In Good Condition, Considering Recent Weather Conditions.—State Needs Rain.

The August estimate of farmers in Nodaway county state the condition of the 1926 corn crop to be 85 per cent of normal; early threshing of wheat indicates 279,720 bushels, the condition of oats is 74 per cent upon 36,390 acres; the condition of potatoes on August 1st has been reported at 90 per cent of normal; tame hay 72 per cent; pastures 90 per cent, and apples 62 per cent.

Missouri corn at 74 per cent normal indicates 27.23 bushels per acre or 185,845,000 bushels upon 6,825,000 acres planted, according to E. A. Logan of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics, and Jewell Mayes of the Missouri State Board of Agriculture. The yield in 1925 was 201,338,000 bushels from 6,825,000 acres; the 5-year average yield has been 183,041,000.

Missouri corn needs rain. Early corn is badly fired on uplands, while most bottom lands are good. Scattered localities receiving showers give fair promise. Corn is late, and cultivation continued on late fields up to first week of August. Crop has been well cultivated, is clean, but chinch bugs are numerous in many communities from Bates to DeKalb County eastward to the Mississippi River. Much corn in south Missouri is in a critical condition, as the rainfall has been short in many localities from May to August. General shortage of moisture exists in nearly all sections, and the corn crop requires generous rains to fulfill the August prospect.

Missouri wheat averages 15 bushels per acre upon 1,298,000 acres totaling 19,470,000 bushels, against 21,965,000 in 1925, and 30,720,000 for the five-year average. Wheat has threshed out much better than expected, and high acre yields are reported quite generally similar to 1918. The yields are better in southern half of Missouri than in northern where winter kill was general. Wheat is grading high in nearly all sections, much of it running from 60 to 64 pounds per bushel.

Spring wheat is 76 per cent normal, indicating 13.53 bushels upon 11,000 acres, or 149,000 bushels against 112,000 last year. Barley is 79 per cent or 24.49 bushels totaling 145,000 bushels against 155,000 in 1925. Rye averages 12.9 bushels upon 26,000 acres, totaling 335,000 bushels against 300,000 in 1925.

Missouri oats are 62 per cent, indicating 20.46 bushels upon 2,137,000, forecasting 43,723,000 bushels against 49,166,000 in 1925. Weather was unfavorable for oats in June and July. Rust, dry weather and chinch bugs greatly reduced oats yields—and threshings to date are turning out lower yields than in recent years. A few southeast counties and scattered communities report good oats crop.

Missouri tame hay had an unfavorable season, and condition of 68 per cent forecasts 0.99 tons per acre or 2,593,000 tons from 2,619,000 acres, against 3,098,000 tons in 1925. Much young clover was destroyed in the May drouth, and timothy and other meadows were only fair. Soybeans are good at 81 per cent, cowpeas 77 per cent, sorghum forage needing rain.

Missouri apples 52 per cent normal indicate 4,073,000 bushels against 4,100,000 in 1925, of which 638,000 barrels are commercial crop against 673,000 last year. The farm crop is fair in most counties, while the commercial crop is good in the southwest and northwest, but poor to fair in central Missouri.

Grapes 84 per cent, peaches 59 per cent, and pears 60 per cent.

Gardens and summer vegetables have suffered from lack of moisture; potatoes 74 per cent, indicating 72.52 bushels per acre or 6,672,000 bushels from 92,000 acres, against 5,016,000 bushels in 1925, from 88,000 acres. Sweet potatoes 74 per cent, indicating 637,000 bushels against 570,000 last year.

Pastures are short in nearly all sections, reflected in the lessened milk flow of threee pounds per cow from July to August. Stock water is getting scarce in some counties.

Missouri's 1926 production of corn, wheat, oats and hay will be less than in 1925. Harvesting has been completed and threshing finished or well along in all sections. Stubble plowing for wheat is retarded by dry, hard ground, except by tractors. All crops need rain at date of preparing this August report. Weather Director George Reeder reports Missouri up to first week of August as 30 per cent short of normal total rainfall for the growing season. Marketing of hogs and calves decreased during July, but cattle and sheep increased.

FARM GLIMPSES

By BILLY TILSON

Clarence Dack, northeast of Ravenwood, shipped a well finished load of yearlings from that point and they were on yesterday's market.

W. T. Jackson, northwest of Ravenwood, shipped six loads of fine steers Tuesday night from Ravenwood and they were on yesterday's market. Part of this shipment was billed to Kansas City and part to St. Joseph, but if the St. Joseph market was favorable they would all be sold there. Mr. Jackson has 800 acres of corn this year.

A fair rain was reported most all over the county Tuesday night. Down in the southeast part of the county it was very light, corn and grass being greatly damaged down in that locality. We are in hopes the rain last night extended all over the county, as stock on pastures in some localities were not holding their own and the grass and water was getting scarce.

A. Lawson and Frank West of the Harmony neighborhood were Maryville visitors yesterday afternoon. They report over an inch of rain in that locality and corn which the day before looked like it had given up under the sweltering rays of the sun was ready for another start.

J. L. Farris, wife and daughter of Clarksdale, Mo., who have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. Hubert Corken of Burlington Junction, are now visiting the families of R. L., Claude, Russell and L. Peters of near Skidmore and Lee Peters of Maryville.

George Smith, wife and sons of Freeport, Ill., who have been visiting Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Leiby, north of Barnard, left for points in Kansas, where they wil visit a brother of Mrs. Smith before returning home.

E. E. Saunders, northeast of Maryville, says the hot weather had not damaged his corn to any great extent and the rains now will insure him a good yield.

Dr. Cline and Ed Seweikhardt shipped out a load of lambs from Conception last week. They got in on a good day's market. They had a truck load left and will have them on the market this week. Mr. Seweikhardt, who looks after the Doctor's farm, southwest of Conception, says their lambs done fine this year.

Will Osborn, northwest of the city, sent a truck load of lambs to the St. Joseph market this week. Mr. Osborn raised quite a bunch of lambs this year and when a truck load is ready for the market, he sends them out.

Ferd O'Riley of near Conception Jct. shipped forty head of 325-pound hogs to the St. Joseph market Tuesday. Others who shipped from that point Tuesday were Joe Bliley, John Holtman, and Tony Henegler.

John D. Growney, southwest of Conception Jct., is building a new modern bungalow on his farm, south of Conception. Mr. Growney purchased this farm last spring from the Casper Kiser heirs. The farm will be occupied by his son, Charles, as soon as the house is completed.

Emmett Bishop, south of Ravenwood, is baling straw this week. He will have around 50 tons. Mr. Bishop will sow around 140 acres of wheat this year and now has a tractor pulling a gang plow and six large mules also pulling a gang plow turning under the stubble and getting the ground ready for the weat.

Doris Bishop, south of Ravenwood, is plowing his ground and getting it ready for wheat. He expects to sow 100 acres this fall and believes in early plowing.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred O'Riley and children of Skidmore were Maryville visitors yesterday.

Mrs. Hale Leaves.

Mrs. B. F. Hale of Wellington, Kan., who has been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lyle, southwest of Maryville, for a month, left yesterday afternoon for Claremore, Okla., where she will be the guest of Mr. Hale's parents. She was accompanied as far as Kansas City by her sister, Miss Myrle Lyle, who will visit relatives there over the week-end.

PRISON LABOR NOW SUCCESS

FEWER ESCAPES DURING LAST SEVERAL WEEKS.

MEN ON ROAD WORK

More Privileges Are Granted and New Man Placed in Charge—Better Class of Convicts.

Jefferson City, Aug. 12.—With the number of escapes reduced to a minimum and the total number of prisoners employed increased to 227, prison authorities here are claiming success for the prison labor system on state built highways.

There are 108 convicts stationed at Camp No. 1, which is located about two miles northeast of Calwood. They are grading a stretch of road on the new route of Highway No. 40. This work began at Aux Vass Creek over which a steel bridge is being constructed. This camp is the only one in which men are employed in actual road work.

In the two other highway construction camps, the men are employed at crushing rock and do no grading. These two rock quarry camps are located in Boone county, one, Camp No. 3, being just off of Highway No. 7, about fifteen miles north of Columbia; the other being about three miles northwest of Columbia. There are 70 convicts at work at Camp No. 3 and for the past month they have turned out an average of 75 yards of crushed rock a day. The rock is being used in completing Highway No. 7 which runs nearby.

At Camp No. 4, 99 convicts are employed. The crushed rock obtained there was used on Highway No. 40, west of Columbia, until that section was completed and it is now being hauled and placed in stock-piles along the route of Highway No. 40 east of Columbia, for use there.

There has recenly been a decided decrease in the number of prisoners who have escaped from these camps, according to Cortez F. Enloe, director of the State Penal Board and William B. McGregor, farms commissioner who has general supervision of all the work done by convicts outside the prison.

When a few months ago so many convicts employed in outdoor work succeeded in escaping, the members of the State Penal Board began at once trying to find a solution for the problem. They soon decided that a better class of convicts should be used in this kind of work, but they did not stop with this one change. They put a new captain in charge of the camp near Calwood where a large number of the convicts were escaping. This man was E. J. Flanagan, who, by experience in the World War, had learned to distinguish between the right and wrong kind of discipline. He immediately gave the hundred or so convicts in his camp more privileges and the number of escapes decreased at once.

There are now 108 convicts working under Captain Flanagan and he says he has very little trouble with them. The escape of Roy Payne a week ago was the first one which has occurred for several weeks. Captains of the two other camps agree with Flanagan that the convicts are not difficult to control even though they are out-of-doors and are required to do hard work.

Another Suit Filed Over Bartles Land

Two Other Cases Filed Today for Trial at October Term—Last Day for Publication.

Another chapter in the litigation over the estate of the late Jesse F. Bartles, in progress for several years, was opened today when a suit to set aside deeds was filed in behalf of Mary E. Bartles, by her next friend, Charles F. McCaffrey, against her mother, Mrs. Ozella C. Bartles, and others.

Mr. Bartles died January 20, 1914, leaving 280 acres of land in the extreme northeast part of Nodaway County, about four miles northwest of Sheridan. His widow and four children survived him. Mrs. Bartles elected to take a child's share of the estate, making five parts in which it was to be divided. A partition suit followed, and several other transactions, in which the attorneys for the daughter, Mary, charge that she was defrauded of her share.

Two other cases were filed today, one suit to partition land and the other to quiet title. The title suit is brought by William I. and Lula V. Ringold against Isaiah Wilcoxon, Annie E. and F. A. Buck, James Scott, Absolom Wagner, Milton H. and Jeannette Gladman, Milton Gladman, and the unknown heirs of any or all of them. The defendants are said to be all non-residents of the state. The property involved consists of lots 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22 and 23, in Helmer's addition to Hopkins.

The partition suit is brought by Florian A. Spuhler and involves the north half of the southwest quarter of section 36, township 64, range 37, eighty acres four miles northeast of Skidmore, part of the estate of David Spuhler, who died on January 1 of this year. The defendants are Edward and Mary Spuhler, Henry Spuhler, Tillie Gordon, George E. and Clara C. Ehret, Elmer and Mary C. Ehret, Raymond X. and Gertrude L. Ehret, Wilbert Spuhler, Ellen and Milo Rininger, Cornelia and Harley Weymer, John E. and Sadie Spuhler, Austin Spuhler, Isabella and Adolph Leopold, Katherine Bridgeland, Charlotte Hughes, Florence and William Jerolm, Ella and Charles Pinnix, Viola and Lawrence Fishel, William G. and Viola Riedel, Edward and Ruby Riedel, Delia and Gust Necker, —— Spuhler and her unknown heirs. All of the defendants are declared to be non-residents.

Today was the last day for filing of suits for the October term in which publication is required.

The GIRL in the MIRROR

By Elizabeth Jordan

COPYRIGHT BY THE CENTURY COMPANY

THE STORY.

CHAPTER I.—Barbara Devon's wedding and departure of her honeymoon leaves her brother "Laurie," successful playright but somewhat inclined to wildness, without her restraining influence. His theatrical associates, Rodney Bangs and Jacob Epstein, promise to "keep an eye on him."

CHAPTER II. — Laurie, who is wealthy, refuses to settle down to work, announcing his intention of resting and seeking "adventure." From his window in New York he sees the reflection of a beautiful girl in a mirror in the house opposite.

CHAPTER III.—Devon learns from the elevator boy in the girl's house that her name is Mayo. Again in the mirror's reflection he sees her with a revolver and fears she means to commit suicide. He breaks into her apartment and, winning her confidence, induces her to lunch with him, though she warns him of "danger."

CHAPTER IV.—Perceptibly agitated by the arrival of a man in the restaurant, she mutters that he has "found her." Learning that she is unmarried and the man has no claim on her, Laurie, incensed, accosts the stranger.

CHAPTER V.—Accusing the man of annoying Miss Mayo, Devon warns him to end his espionage. The stranger is politely sarcastic, but from him Laurie learns the girl's first name is Doris. She tells him her persecutor is Herbert Ransome Shaw.

Chapter VI.—To Louise Ordway, his invalid sister-in-law, and firm friend, Laurie admits he is "interested" in Doris, not revealing her identity.

"But she's an ideal person for you to know, experienced, sympathetic, and understanding. She did a lot for my sister last year. I must tell you all about that sometime. She could do more for you—"

"Mr. Devon!" The finality of her tone brought him up short. "We must understand each other."

"I should like nothing better." He too, was suddenly formal.

"This morning you projected yourself into my life."

"Literally," he cordially agreed.

"I am grateful to you for what you did and what you wish to do. But I will not meet any more strangers. I will not meet Miss Orleneff, or any one else. Is that clear?"

"Oh, perfectly!" Laurie sighed. "Of course you're a crowned head," he mused aloud. "I had forgotten. Would you like my head on a charger, or anything like that?"

She studied him thoughtfully.

"Almost from the first," she said, "and except for an occasional minute or two, you have refused to be serious. That interests me. Why is it? Aren't you willing to realize that there are real troubles in the world, terrible troubles, that the bravest go down under?"

"Of course." He was serious now. He had begun to realize that fully. "It's my unfortunate manner, I suppose," he defended himself. "I've never taken anything seriously for very long. It's hard to form the habit, all of a sudden."

"You will have to take me seriously."

He made a large gesture of acceptance.

"All right," he promised. "That brings us back to where we were. Tell me the truth. If there's anything in it that really menaces you, you'll find me serious enough."

Before answering, she rose and opened the studio door, a strong new lock and an inside bolt had already been placed. He saw her peer up and down the hall. Then she closed and bolted the door, and returned to her chair. The precaution brought before him a mental vision of Herbert Ransome Shaw prowling about the dim corridor. He spoke incredulously.

"Are you really afraid of that chap?"

"I have good reason to be," she said quietly. She sat down in her chair again, rested her elbows on the table and her chin in her hands, in the pose already so familiar to him, and added quietly, "He is the source of all my present trouble."

She stopped and turned her head to listen.

"Do you hear anything moving in the hall?" she asked, almost in a whisper.

"No. Shall I look?"

She shook her head. "Don't unbolt the door."

"You're nervous. I'm sure there's nothing there. Please go on," he urged. "Our little friend Bertie—"

Seeing her expression, he stopped short. "Forgive me," he said, humbly. "But the plain truth is, it's awfully hard for me to take that fellow seriously. Oh, I know he's venomous," he conceded, "but I can't help feeling that he hasn't as much power over you as you think he has."

He realized that she was listening, but not to him.

"There is someone outside that door!" she whispered.

Laurie leaped to the door as noiselessly as a cat, unbolted it, and flung it open. The hall was empty. He had an instantaneous impression that something as silent as a moving shadow had vanished around the staircase at the far end, but when he reached the spot he saw nothing save the descending iron spirals of successive stairways. He returned to his companion, smiling reassuringly.

"It's our nerves," he said. "In a few minutes more I shall be worrying about Bertie, myself."

"Bolt the door again," she directed.

He obeyed. She went on as if there had been no interruption to their talk.

"It isn't what he is," she admitted. "He himself is nothing, as you say. It's what is back of him that—that frightens me! Why don't you smoke?" she interrupted herself to ask.

Laurie automatically selected and lit another cigarette.

"I know what's going to be back of Bertie pretty soon," he darkly predicted. "Whoever he is, and whatever he is doing, he has a big jolt coming to him, and it's coming fast."

He laid down the cigarette and turned to her with his most charming expression, a wonderfully sweet smile, half shy, wholly boyish. Before this look, any one who loved Laurence Devon was helpless.

"Come," he said gently, "tell me the whole story. You know it's not curiosity that makes me ask. But how can I help you when I'm working in the dark?"

As she hesitated, his brilliant eyes, so softened now, continued to hold hers.

"And I want to help you," he added. "I want that privilege more than I want anything else in the world."

For a long moment she sat still, as if considering his words, her eyes on her hands, folded in her lap. The strange, deep flush he had noticed once before again stained her face. At last she straightened up with a quick movement, throwing back her shoulders as if to take on again some burden they had almost cast off.

"I am sorry to seem so mysterious," she said, "and so unresponsive. I will tell you this much, and it is more than I ought to say. In the situation we are in I am in his power, horribly so. He can crush me at any time he chooses."

"Then why doesn't he?"

The gentleness of her caller's voice softened the brusqueness of his words.

"Because—" She stopped again. For the first time she had become embarrassed and self-conscious. She made her climax in a rush: "Lately he insists that he has fallen in love with me!"

Laurie uttered an ejaculation. It was not a pretty one, but it nicely fitted the emergency.

"He has hoped that to save myself, and others, I will marry him, the contemptible, crawling snake!"

The listener was impressed by her comparison. Certainly there was something ophidian about Shaw. He himself had noticed it.

"Then, for the time being, you're really safe," he suggested.

"No. His patience is exhausted. He is beginning to realize that I'd rather die."

"The police can stop all this nonsense." But Laurie spoke without his customary authority.

"Don't imagine that. The police know nothing about this matter, and they never will." A sudden thought struck her and she rose almost with a spring. He rose, too, staring at her in bewilderment. She caught his shoulders and held him tightly, in a grip wholly free from self-consciousness.

"If you warn the police," she said swiftly; "if you draw them into this, you will ruin everything. You will do me a harm that could never be undone. Give me your word that you won't. Please, please!"

She was almost shaking him now. Under the clasp of her hands on his shoulders Laurie paled a little, but his black eyes held hers steadily.

"Of course I promise," he said, slowly, "as you make such a point of it."

She removed her hands and stepped back.

"Please go now."

"So soon? Why, I've only just come!"

"I know—but I'm tired."

There was no mistaking the sincerity of this. It was a piognant outcry. Clearly, she was at the breaking-point. He took both her hands.

"This whole experience gives me the oddest feeling," he told her gently. "In one way, I seem to be dreaming it. Under it all there's a conviction that I'm on the track of the mystery; that everything will be cleared up, for us both, in another minute or two. It's merely an instinct. I can't explain it. But one thing I know. Sooner or later—sooner, I hope—I shall be able to work it out for you."

She seemed suddenly to remember that he was holding her hands. Flushing, she gently withdrew them. Then she turned, and with a brusque gesture walked away from him.

"I'm sorry I got you into this," she cried.

"Don't worry about me." He smiled at her from the door he was holding open. "May I come and take you to lunch tomorrow?"

"Not tomorrow. The next day, perhaps."

"We've got to look for that job, you know."

"With all this?" she indicated with the toe of her slipper a significant spot on the rug.

Hopkins Man and Son Have Wild Truck Ride

Cy Wolverton met with a thrilling experience the other day while coming down the hill leading from the G. F. Forney farm into Hopkins. He was driving his truck loaded with oats and was unable to get the machine back into gear after it had been placed in neutral on this hill, so the truck kept going faster and faster until it was hitting a frightful pace by the time the Ira Fine corner was reached. Cy realized that it was useless to try to stop the truck before it reached the big ditch near the waterworks ahead of them, so he told his little son, Troy, to jump which the lad did, and Cy followed, both escaping just before the truck upset when it struck the Al Foster fence. Neither Cy nor his son were hurt and the truck was not badly damaged.—Hopkins Journal.

Washington, Aug. 12.—The Agriculture Department has started a new and vigorous campaign to eliminate the Japanese beetle menace in the United States.

Motion picture films depicting the life and habits of the injurious insect have been distributed by the government over the entire country. It shows farmers how to spray to prevent beetle damage, the treatment of turf so as to kill grubs and the benefits of quarantine to prevent its spread.

Beetles live in the soil ten months of the year but the other two months they attack crops savagely. One feature of the federal movie shows 300 beetles attacking one apple.

Oats was from unchanged to ¼c off.

Provisions were somewhat lower because of the drop in hog values.

COULD NOT PUT ON HER SHOES

Mrs. Daugherty Was so Weak

In a little town of the middle West, was a discouraged woman. For four months she had been in such poor health that she could not stoop to put on her own shoes. Unable to do her work, unable to go out of doors or enjoy a friendly chat with her neighbors, life seemed dark indeed to Mrs. Daugherty.

Then one day, a booklet was left at her front door. Idly she turned the pages. Soon she was reading with quickened interest. The little booklet was filled with letters from women in conditions similar to hers who had found better health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I began taking the Vegetable Compound," Mrs. Daugherty writes, "and after I took the third bottle, I found relief. I am on my eleventh bottle and I don't have that trouble any more, and feel like a different woman. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to everyone I see who has trouble like mine, and you can use these facts as a testimonial. I am willing to answer any letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Ed. DAUGHERTY, 1308 Orchard Ave., Muscatine, Iowa.

GOLFERS LOSE AT ST. JOSEPH

MARYVILLE GROUP GAINS MUCH EXPERIENCE, HOWEVER.

RETURN BID PROBABLE

Match Between Best Highland Caddy and Maryville's Pride Is Scheduled Here for Friday.

Although defeated, golfers from the Maryville Country Club made a creditable showing and gained a lot of experience yesterday, when they were guests of the Highlands Club of St. Joseph. The score, according to this morning's St. Joseph Gazette, was 53 to 12.

The Maryville club was represented by thirty-one players, of whom four were from Ravenwood. The Ravenwood delegation was composed of I. A. Goodson, Dorse Conn, M. L. Bentley and Eldon Steiger, and the Maryville group included the following:

Dr. H. S. Dowell, M. S. Hamilton, Donald Dowell, L. M. Eek, Dr. D. J. Thomas, E. G. Cook, W. A. Rickenbrode, Uel Lamkin, Dr. Jesse Miller, O. M. Watkins, F. T. Gillam, John Harper, H. F. Lawrence, Paul Jones, Bert Null, Harry Snyder, Henry Buhler, R. C. Seals, F. P. Reuillard, B. E. Costello, Frank Myers, M. A. Lewis, jr., Theodore Robinson, Edward Condon, Edward W. Gray, J. C. McDonnell and Clarence Vogt.

The Maryville party was accompanied also by two caddies, Jesse Dinsmore and Fred ("Little Speck") Benge.

Play began at 10 o'clock in the morning. Top honors in the blind bogey contest were annexed by Highlands golfers, with H. W. Thompson first and A. Blunk, H. C. Herschman and Melvin Binswanger tied for second. None of the Maryville scores were available.

The Maryville players were considerably handicapped by unfamiliarity with the hazards of the Highland course, which were much more numerous and more difficult than the Maryville links.

An invitation for a return match here probably will be extended to the St. Joseph golfers. Pending such an arrangement ,a caddy match has been scheduled for next Friday, when the star of the Highlands caddies will come here to engage Jesse ("Sweetser") Dinsmore, the crack of the local force of ball chasers.

Rain Halts Swimming Meet Here Last Night

Indications Are That St. Joseph Team Was Winning, Although No Definite Score Available.

Rain curtailed the swimming meet between the swimmers of the Maryville Sanitary Pool and the team from St. Joseph municipal pool last night. A small crowd attended the meet at the local pool.

It seems that the St. Joseph team won most of the events before rain stopped the meet.

Buster Strong tied for first in fancy diving and Virgil Hood was first and Charles Aley third in the same event for boys.

Carl Price and H. R. O'Banion each won a third in back stroke races.

AThe under water swin was forfeited to Wallace Hilsabeck.

Burlington Junction Chautauqua Loses

The chautauqua at Burlington Junction closed last night after a five day's program of unusual merit. While the chautauqua has been a success in one way it did not pay out, according to the Burlington Junction Post. The advance sales were about $250 short of the guarantee and had to be paid by those who signed the contract. A new contract is now being circulated in Burlington Junction but whether or not the sufficient number of signers will be secured to bring the Chautauqua next year is not known, according to the Post.

Won't Take Part in Naming a State Chairman, the Senator Says in St. Louis.

Senator Williams just has returned from a fishing trip near Van Buren, Mo., following his selection in last week's primary election as the Republican nominee for the United States senate.

He intimated his selection of a chairman would make the matter largely personal with him, and said he would be satisfied with the selection of the committee.

His wife, who is 77 years old, is blind and partly crippled from a fall in which she sustained a broken hip. She and Mr. Crane lived alone at their home, 415 West First street.

Friends believe that Mr. Crane will notify his wife and other persons here of his whereabouts within the next few days.

The former jeweler was in business here for about forty-nine years, being located for many years where the Montgomery Clothing Co., now is and later moving to the present location of Kuchs Brothers.

Hopkins Farm Union to Make Checks Good

At a meeting of the Farmers Union association at the Royal theatre building Tuesday, it was decided to take up the checks on the defunct Bank of Hopkins that had been issued to different members as payment for stock shipped through the Union and issue to them checks good for 100 cents on the dollar. The Union had out something over $2600 worth of checks when the bank closed and did the right thing by not allowing the men to whom they were issued to be losers.—Hopkins Journal.

PULL up a chair and pull out the papers. Borrow a thimbleful of Prince Albert and roll one of the grandest cigarettes you ever smoked. Better still, buy yourself a tidy red tin of good old Prince Albert, because you're going to need a supply of it. Yes, Sir!

The first thing you notice is how easily this tobacco rolls. No fuss or muss. No fluttering to the floor in a waste of time, temper and tobacco. That's because Prince Albert is crimp-cut and stays put in the papers while you're rolling it. Ideal makin's, Men!

These cigarettes are cool-smoking . . . refreshingly cool. They are sweet and fragrant as dew-kissed blossoms. If you have never rolled a cigarette with P. A., you have no notion of how good a home-rolled cigarette can be. Try this better cigarette tobacco today.

For variety, try a load of this same wonderful tobacco in your pipe. Prince Albert gets you more pleasure out of a pipe than any other fuel you could feed. Pipe-smokers say P. A. is so genuinely friendly to tongue, throat and general disposition. Try P. A. this way too.

P. A. is sold everywhere. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.
